

Phoenix Sagen owns a full-service travel agency, MyTravel4Ever, in Colorado Springs, Colorado. She began her travel career planning vacations for her family and eventually began booking business trips for friends and hosting escorted tours around the world. She is a Travel Specialist, a certified Tour Director and Travel Agent specializing in custom trips, group tours and family vacations. While adventure travel is popular, she is also well-versed in luxury destinations. She thinks it's important to match the proper destination and product to the client. Over the years, she has traveled to many destinations and loves sharing her knowledge and experiences with her clientele via her blog on her website and her video blog on Facebook. Both Phoenix and her husband Eric love to incorporate their love of biking and staying active into their vacations. Favorite vacations include zip-lining through Mexico, hiking in Canada and France, Glacier hopping in Alaska and snorkeling the beautiful waters of the Caribbean. Be it a scenic river cruise or a glamorous ocean liner, cruising remains one of her favorite means of travel. In fact, her bucket list includes taking a world cruise.
