

Sharon Marie Lawlor is an intuitive healer transpiring deep transformational healing sessions empowering women to live from their heart. She has been immersed in the field since 2004. She is driven by the beauty of nature that has led her desire to want to create a better world. Knowing she was a part of this shift from the young age of seven. Mesmerized with the interconnectedness the universe holds she procured a degree in Environmental Science.

She is a spiritual truth seeker constantly questing for expansion in her own personal growth. Sharon has made it her personal mission to reclaim her inner light by intentionally living a life that fills her soul. Her joy includes a love of creative art, writing, yoga, music, dance, nature, travel, laughter, and surrounding herself with loved ones.

Sharon has an office in Ann Arbor, Michigan working with clients one-on-one. Her spiritual teachings have been published in a women's empowerment magazine to provide guidance as she taps into the rhythms of nature. She currently is working on healing arts process videos incorporating all of her wisdoms where she can reach a wider audience online. Visit tranquilBeing.com to find out more.

